Google Classroom

In the event of a class or school closure, we will be using Google Classroom to teach, communicate and give feedback to your children. Every teacher has set up a classroom for their Year group and have given children their own unique logins. We have dedicated our Computing lessons to showing the children how to login, comment and turn in work on this platform.

Here is a visual guide on how to access Google Classroom for children and families:

1.

Go to google and click on the Apps tab in the top right corner.

You can also download the App.

2.

This is your stream where your teacher will post work.

You can also use it to post comments and chart with friends.

You can even upload photos of the work you've been doing too.
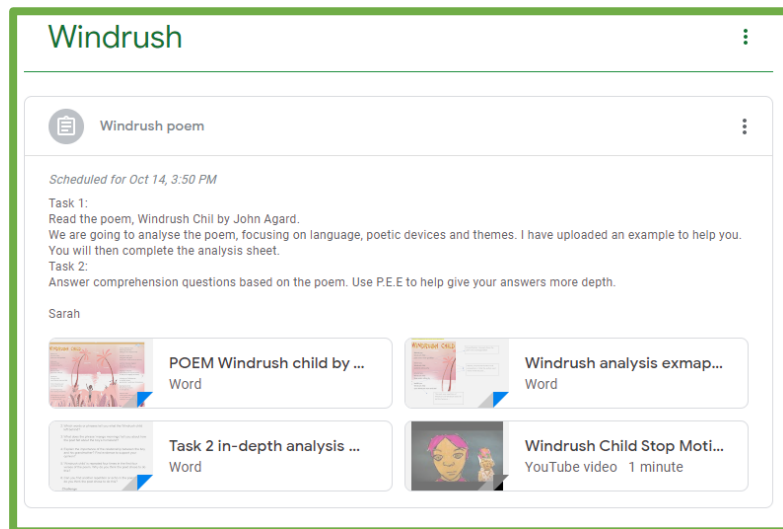

How to find, complete and turn in assignments

Windrush poem

Scheduled for Oct 14, 3:50 PM

Task 1:
Read the poem, Windrush Chil by John Agard.
We are going to analyse the poem, focusing on language, poetic devices and themes. I have uploaded an example to help you. You will then complete the analysis sheet.
Task 2:
Answer comprehension questions based on the poem. Use P.E.E to help give your answers more depth.

When you're finished, siomply click the TURN IN tab and it will be sent to your teacher.

Sometimes, your teacher will give you a Google Docs file. This is like a word document that you canwrite on and then 'turn it in' so that your teacher can mark it. It's just like being at school!

Task 2: In-depth analysis of Windrush Child

Write your answers under each question.

1.   Summarise the key events of the poem.

I think that the poem is about change and moving to a new country. It is about saying goodbye to people we love.
